Painting – Workshop: Painting Color, Painting Light!

Age: 16yrs. and up. In reality, we see color because of light, but in paintings we see light because of color. In this two-day workshop, students will be inspired with their use of colors through slide-show presentations, live demos, class critiques and discussions, as well as one-on-one individual critiques. By using fearless and non-traditional painting warm-up exercises, we will create a fresh and dynamic composition to work upon. The next step is all about putting the color to work; blocking in values, considering the intensity of colors, playing with temperature. It is with the use of color that an artist can really kick-start their paintings into life. Subject matter will be provided in class, but students are welcome to bring in their photos for inspiration. Previous painting experience is required; oils and acrylics are welcome. A suggested supplies list is available on Sertoma's webpage. Instructor: Leslie Pruneau.

Painting – Workshop: Painting Outside of the Lines

Age: 16yrs. and up. One might think a painting is created in two phases. The first stage is drawing, where the artist works to compose the shapes on a picture plane, and the second stage is applying the color. While these are enormously important steps to consider, it was the invention of the 'tube of paint' in 1841 that really changed things a lot in painting. A door was opened that led some artists to skip the under-drawing altogether and go straight to painting. New styles were born such as impressionism, expressionism, color-field painting and more. In this two-day workshop, we will explore some non-traditional painting processes, that are meant to keep the artist working and seeing their paintings fresh with every brush mark. Yes, accidents will happen, but learning which ones to keep is a most valuable step for an artist to take. Subject matter will be provided in class, but students are welcome to bring in their photos for inspiration. Previous painting experience is required; oils and acrylics are welcome. A suggested supplies list is available on Sertoma's webpage. Instructor: Leslie Pruneau
